The German high command after his release from the Italian prison camp of Salerno, Italy, was announced by the Associated Press. The German high command began a campaign of exploitation of the incident, claiming it as a master stroke and an audacious venture.
A German broadcast said "completely reliable" sources in Berlin state that the German leaders were freed by the German high command.

War Bond Drive Enters Busy Week; Total Now $546,817

Saturday's Sales Lowest of First Three Days; Special Events Scheduled for Week.

With the county's sales for the first three days standing at $546,817.50, the Third War Loan campaign in Marion county plunged into a busy week of special activities this morning that leaders hope will push the drive well on its way toward the $2,829,000 county quota.
Saturday, a short day for the banks and consequently a light day for closing war bond sales, brought the lightest single day's sales so far in the drive—$66,613.75.

CITY SCHOOLS OPENED TODAY

5,477 in Public System, Drop from Year Ago; St. Mary High School Opens.

The 1943-44 school term opened this morning for more than 5,000 pupils of the Marion public schools and more than 130 boys and girls enrolled in St. Mary's Parochial High School. School opened last Tuesday morning for grade pupils of St. Mary's school. Total registration in the public schools numbered 5,477, according to figures compiled in the office of Supt. E. E. Holt. This number is slightly under last year's registration which was 5,585. Boys and girls entering the armed forces and working in war industry, together with families moving out of the city to engage in war work account for the decrease in enrollment, officials said. Enrollment at Harding today was 890 and last year's figures were 947.

St. Mary Figures
At St. Mary school the total enrollment was 450, of which 135 are enrolled in the high school. The public schools opened with practically a full staff, despite a shortage of teachers throughout the county. Miss Mildred Epley was recently assigned as teacher for the crippled children at George Washington school, and Mrs. Paul Bingham will succeed her as teacher of the third grade at that building. Vacancies to be filled include that of a cook at George Washington school and a secretary at Vernon Heights school.

At Mark Street, where there are two first grade teachers, enrollment in the first grade was 90, figures show. At Glenwood there were 101 children enrolled for their first day of school.

Changes in study books this year include readers for the first, second and third grades, and arithmetics from grades three to eight inclusive. New readers are published by Scott Foresman & Co., and the arithmetics are published by the Laidlaw Co.

Figures by Schools
The following is the enrollment by schools:

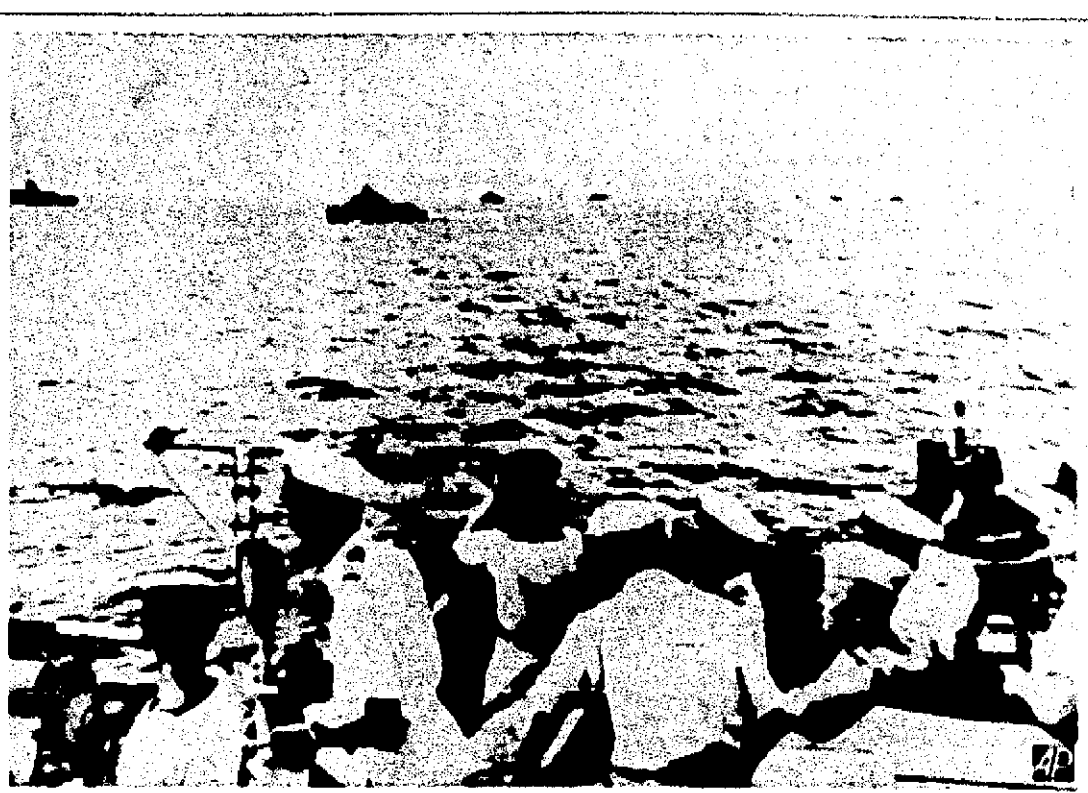

Forest Lawn 155; George Washington 159; Glenwood 381; Greenwood 210; Mark Street 382; North Main 219; Oak 239; Oakland 388; Olney 261; Pearl 340; Silver 371; Central 630; Edison 494; Vernon 338; Harding 890. Total 5,477. In the special classes the enrollment

Ohio Chorus, School Band and Guest Artist Warmly Applauded at Chataqua Pavilion Program.

An audience of approximately 1,500 music lovers heard the Marion Ohio Chorus, a guest artist, William Chosnyk of Fort Wayne and the Harding High School band in an entertaining program of favorite songs and musical compositions yesterday afternoon at the Chataqua pavilion. The occasion was the annual concert arranged by the chorus as a part of its contribution to the civic and cultural program of Marion and the community.
The program was the chorus' first given this year by the chorus which is made up of members from church choirs of the city, and individuals from the chorus which was organized last fall, and individuals from singing and in preparation for a permanent community organization. This will be the chorus' first fall when the chorus will start for the annual presentation of "The Messiah" Handel.
Musicians Applauded
The appreciation of the audience was voiced in the applause which greeted the numbers and songs of the chorus. Major P. E. Jones, chairman of the chorus, gave the chorus in which he told of

Captain of U-Boat That Sent Ark Royal Down Is Captured

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—The Navy announced today that the skipper of the German U-boat which sank the British aircraft carrier Ark Royal had been captured by a United States plane which bombed and sank the enemy undersea boat off the coast of Brazil. Captainleutnant Friedrich Guggenberger, who was decorated by Germany for the sinking of the British carrier in 1941, was one of seven survivors picked up after a duel between the Navy plane and the U-boat in which bombs finally shattered the submarine. Guggenberger, the Navy said,

"is now a prisoner of the United States."
The date of the action in which the submarine was sunk was not disclosed.
The Navy statement said: "Axis radio reports stated that Guggenberger was awarded the knight's cross of the Iron Cross by Germany in December, 1941, for sinking the Ark Royal and he was awarded the oak leaves to the knight's cross early this year."
Guggenberger was commander of one of two U-boats which the Germans credited for the Ark Royal sinking.

The Navy plane, a Martin raider, was flying off the Brazilian coast when it sighted the submarine. Only minutes later the U-boat sighted the plane. Anti-aircraft fire came from the deck gun as the submarine turned and increased its speed.

The Navy bomber immediately began its run for the release of bombs. Through heavy fire, the plane came in over its target and released its bombs from an altitude of only 50 feet.

"The drop completely straddled the sub, two of the bombs striking the U-boat's deck, the others landing close aboard on the port and starboard sides," the Navy reported.

"The U-boat was blasted out of the water. Returning to the spot about a minute after the attack, the Navy fliers saw spreading oil, various brown discolorations and 15 to 20 survivors in the water."

A life raft was dropped in the midst of the German survivors and the plane hovered over the scene until relieved two hours later by another plane which in turn stood by until the seven survivors were picked up by a United States Naval seaplane tender. The Navy did not explain what happened to the other survivors seen in the water at the time the life raft was dropped.

On the Sea of Azov the Russians had swept 15 miles beyond the port of Mariupol and were heading toward Melitopol, 85 miles to the west.

Electric Rates and Time Change Before Council
A new rate contract with the Marion-Reserve Power Co. and legislation to put the city back on "daylight" beginning in October, if such a change happens to meet the wishes of members, are expected to go before city council at its meeting tonight.

It will be the first appearance of both matters before council at an official meeting, although council has met informally on the electric rate proposal in the last few weeks.

More Italian Ships Arrive at Malta Port

By The Associated Press
LONDON, Sept. 13.—Another Italian naval force arrived at Valletta, Malta, today, including the 13,000-ton battleship Giulio Cesare, the 5,000-ton seaplane carrier Giuseppe Miraglia, four destroyers and a number of submarines.

The arrivals brought to at least 38 the known number of Italian warships in allied hands, and naval authorities waited for word of other arrivals from a score of Mediterranean bases.

Six of Italy's seven battleships now have been accounted for. Five are in allied hands, the Roma was sunk by German planes, and only the 35,000-ton Impero remains unreported.

The 35,000-ton battleships Italia and Vittorio Veneto and the smaller 24,000-ton Andrea Doria and Duilio, as well as six cruisers, eight destroyers, and 14 submarines arrived at Malta late last week, shortly after the armistice was announced.

A dispatch from Madrid, however, said that an Italian cruiser and four other warships, destroyers and gunboats, had been interned at Port Mahon in the Balearics for overhauling the 24-hour leave as provided by international law.

Two other Italian destroyers, the dispatch said, departed from Pollensa, Mallorca, one of the Balearic islands, last night after landing 25 wounded.

Seven of Italy's 10 known cruisers have joined the allies, and seven Italian warships reported to have put in previously at the Balearics before heading for an allied port may have included others.

Still unaccounted for are more than half of the Italian submarine fleet which was believed to have numbered between 50 and 60, some of which were understood to have been operating in the Atlantic ocean.

Other units of the fleet, including some of the submarines, were believed to be at sea attempting to elude German bombers.

Elsewhere the Russians were meeting with success in their campaign to push the Nazis to the Danube or beyond before winter, gaining up to 10 1/2 miles and wresting 240 towns from German control in heavy fighting which resulted in the death of 3,700 German troops, the Soviet war bulletin said.

The stab at Bryansk threatened to unsettle the entire northern end of the 600-mile active Russian front. Other Red army columns cut the Bryansk-Vyazma railroad at Blizh, 40 miles north of Bryansk, leaving only the railroads through Roslavl and Gomel as possible avenues of escape for the Nazis.

Other Russian troops were advancing along the Kiev-Konotop railway toward Kiev, capital of the Ukraine, and were closing in on Nizhyn, large railroad junction town 72 miles northeast of Kiev.

On the Sea of Azov the Russians had swept 15 miles beyond the port of Mariupol and were heading toward Melitopol, 85 miles to the west.

NAZIS BATTLE DESPERATELY TO HOLD LINE

British Eighth Army Drives Steadily Northward from Italian Toe.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, Sept. 13.—A bitter and bloody battle raged into its fifth consecutive day around the American Fifth army's Salerno bridgehead today with growing German forces resisting desperately the determined penetration into their hill positions gliding the plain and protecting the broad port of Naples.

The British Eighth army, speeding steadily northward from the Italian toe against little or no enemy opposition, captured the port of Salerno, 110 miles from the southern tip of the peninsula, and found that harbor in good condition for allied use, a communique from Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's headquarters announced.

The British force landed at Taranto—the eastern leg of the allied invasion which had been thrown across the saddle of the Apennines—swiftly extended its hold on the entrance to the Adriatic after the capture of Brindisi. While reinforcements poured ashore to strengthen this right wing of the allied assault, small German forces left in the vicinity were being pushed back rapidly.

Attamura Captured
(The British radio broadcast that British had captured Attamura, 22 miles west of Bari. Bari is approximately 30 miles north of Taranto and an important port on the Adriatic. It is 55 miles up the coast from Brindisi. The broadcast was heard by NBC.)

Previously elements of the first German parachute division had been encountered in the push up the Adriatic shore, but whether these were the forces remaining to oppose the advance was not stated.

The main bodies of enemy troops in southern Italy were still converging toward the big Naples-Salerno battle, however, and it was there that the crucial action was being fought.

"Very heavy fighting continues in the area of the Fifth army at Salerno," said the communique. "The Germans are resisting desperately our determined thrusts to break through their positions."

Lt. Gen. Mark W. Clark's chief of staff in this critical battle, killed headquarters disclosed, is 44-year-old Maj. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther of Platt, Neb., rated among the United States army's smartest tacticians and organizers.

(Also indicating fierce fighting in the Salerno area, the German communique said "Nazi troops were through our front lines of their own in the northern part of the battle area and threw back allied forces." In the town and coastal strip—presumably Salerno.

(It was conceded, however, that the allied forces southeast of Salerno were making strong thrusts "to break through mountain positions east of the coastal plain.")

Troop Movement Attacked
Enemy troop movements on the highways toward Salerno were heavily attacked all day yesterday by allied dive-bombers and fighters, which rained bombs and strafing runs on the vehicles streamlining northward toward the fight.

The importance of the Nazi command attached to preventing a further enlargement of Gen. Clark's foothold immediately south of Naples also was shown by the continued presence over the battle area of large numbers of enemy bombers and fighters, both day and night.

Enemy broadcasts, too, said the desperate forces were well entrenched on higher ground and conceded that the fighting was grim.

An air communique said allied aircraft continued night and day attacks on enemy concentrations streaming north out of the southern sections of Italy, presumably headed for the main battleground in the Salerno-Naples district. At Salerno, fighters also intercepted enemy aircraft and shot down four, the announcement said. Four more were knocked down elsewhere. Two allied planes are missing.

The Loyal-Repensky family of bareback riding stars, pictured above, are one of the numerous star attractions of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus.

There's a lot of hard work in the business of bareback riding, for the equestrian has to be an acrobat before he can qualify as a rider. Besides that, the boy or girl apprentice rider (they must all start young) has to know horses.

Take the members of the Loyal-Repensky family, stars of the Bailey Circus, coming to Manhattan Friday, Sept. 17, as an example. Not only were they all raised on the bareback riding act, but they were their ancestors for five generations.

They have ten fine ring horses, magnificent animals, magnificently trained.

The circus will give performances at 2:15 and 5:15 p. m., doors opening at 12 and 4.

Farmers' Market Solves Food Surplus Problem in California

New price lists for major food items have been issued by the Columbus District OPA office, which, beginning today, must be posted in every grocery store carrying any of the nearly 700 foods covered by the Community Pricing Order, district OPA officials at Columbus announced today.

Food prices have been changed in the new order. Prices of foods removed from dollars-and-cents pricing will be figured by grocers under OPA markup regulations, which will give approximately the same prices for all items except flour, and fruits and vegetables of which there is no government subsidy.

Arrangements will be issued to the grocer about every six weeks, as certain products become seasonally important or unimportant. The order sets prices for four groups of stores, with price varying slightly between groups. Smaller, independent stores are in Groups 1 and 2, chain and independent stores in Groups 3 and 4. Each store is required to post a group sign.

H. T. Beckman, District OPA director, announced that plentiful supplies of the new price lists are available at War Price and Rationing Boards for the public. "Call your board or stop in for a list," he urged, "for it is extremely important that you pay no more than ceiling prices."

from housewives about prices of fresh fruits and vegetables, Beckmann says: "Since vegetables and fruits are under markup regulation, which allows the retailer to add a fixed percentage to his cost prices vary. For instance cabbages should not be over 8c a pound and onions not over 8c a pound. But if a grocer buys at a lower cost the ceiling should be under these figures."

Beckmann added that lettuce, green and wax beans, carrots, green peas, white potatoes, squash, tomatoes, bananas, citrus fruits, berries and red sour cherries are under markup control. Other fruits and vegetables are not under price control at retail was little thought that the market would last more than just long enough to clean up the crops. Responding to such swarms of buyers, the market now is permanent.

Word of this farmers' dream came true spread with such effect that trucks now haul produce from hundreds of miles around. Potatoes come down from Eureka 295 miles north, for example. Transportation is the only bottleneck.

A few weeks back San Joaquin county farmers dumped one million pounds of No. 2 potatoes in the river for lack of a market. More were destined for a similar fate, but the growers got word of the free market in San Francisco and took heart. They buried the spuds in 100-pound sacks and sold them quickly under the banner of "potato week," proclaimed by the city to aid the particular distressed product.

MEET WHEAT GOAL, IS PLEA

Production Must Be Kept Even If Average Allotment Is Exceeded.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, Sept. 13 — Elmer Kruse, chairman of the Ohio agricultural war board, reports that the state's 1944 production of wheat must equal 1943's 600,000 bushels grown in 1942.

Even though it became necessary to exceed an allotted 1,650,000 acres to reach the goal.

He said he told a meeting of the agricultural war board last week that should growers feel an increase in already-fixed acreage was needed, they should "take their own judgment." The report was met with an increase in the allotment, which Kruse said was set by wartime demands of all farm products.

H. E. Brown, president of the United Mills at Grafton, remarked that it might be necessary to exceed the quota by 200,000 or 300,000 acres, and Kruse voiced no objection.

However, he said it is the "patriotic duty" of farmers to stay within the quota if at all possible. "This is a war crop but over the nation numerous crops figure into the picture," he said.

Ohio Acreage dwindles

W. W. Cummings, secretary-treasurer of the Ohio Grain, Mill & Feed Dealers' association, reported Ohio wheat acreage dwindled from 2,544,000 acres in 1937 to 1,644,000 acres last season.

The quota system will advance the acreage only to 1,850,000 acres, he said about one per cent above the 1943 crop, compared with allotted increases of 25 per cent in Indiana and Illinois.

Kruse, explaining the increase in Illinois and Indiana acreage as compared to Ohio's said: "While the increase there, a first glance appears out of line with Ohio's 1944 quota, there are several factors to consider which will give a much fairer all-over picture."

"In 1943 Indiana succeeded in getting only a portion of its crop planted. The same holds true with Illinois, where a lack of seeding last year caused a great drop in acreage. Missouri's increased allotment—greatest of any mid-west state—is due solely to their system of crop rotation, and the fact that last year 50 per cent of the acreage ordinarily sowed to wheat was not planted. "In general, the 1944 allotments put all three states in line, and that is a good thing," he said.

H. C. Bamber, director of Ohio State University's agricultural extension service, and a member of the agricultural war board, said he was asked for a substantial reduction in wheat acreage by a normal years production of wheat. "We are producing more wheat than we need," he said.

County agricultural agents are encouraging the farmers to supply the 1944 quota, he said.

Kruse told the grain men no penalties would apply if the state should surpass the allotted acreage, but that the program calls for many crops of food importance and rotation of crops is necessary to preserve the land."

He added farmers must plant wheat where it is most needed, not only in a season's crop but in a year's crop.

CONGRESS RETURNS TO WORK TOMORROW

The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, Sept. 13—Congress returns from a summer recess tomorrow to work for the war effort and the peace.

The congressional attention will be focused on the direct impact of war and their impact on the domestic economy—production of raising revenue, of rationing, of mustering manpower for production and for the military forces.

Men and money appear likely to preoccupy the first two debates. But perhaps before either issue—the father draft and taxes—is settled, Congress will turn its attention to international policy.

Pending before the house is a simply-worded resolution, sponsored by Rep. Fulbright (D-Ark.), which would put the house and senate on record in favor of world cooperation to preserve peace.

Meanwhile, the house ways and means committee has begun the spadework on a new tax bill. The administration has asked for $12,000,000,000 in new revenue.

Here are some of the other major issues on the congressional calendar:

1. Benefits for the returning veterans.
2. Prevention of post-war unemployment.
3. Limitation on the size of the army.
4. National service legislation.
5. Compulsory military training after the war.
6. Extension of the Commodity Credit Corporation (CCC) and its use of subsidies to hold down consumer prices.
7. Economies in government.
8. Repeal of the renegotiation law authorizing the government to recapture "excessive" profits on war contracts.
9. Reconversion allowances for industrial war plants.

Leaders are reported to have agreed to make it the first order of business.

The move to draft fathers after Oct. 1 vied for primary interest. With less than three weeks in which to act, plans have been made for a swift test on Senator Wheeler's (D-Mont.) bill to ban induction of fathers at least until Jan. 1 and thus give Congress time to inquire into the whole manpower problem.

Ohio's Corn Crop ABOVE AVERAGE

COLUMBUS, O., Sept. 13.—Federal and state farm officials estimated today Ohio would grow 151,875,000 bushels of corn this year, nearly equalling the 1942 crop of 155,732,000 bushels and surpassing the 10-year average (1932-41) of 142,091,000 bushels.

An early frost may kill a large part of the crop, however, farm authorities warned in a statement issued by the federal-state crop reporting service. Much of the crop is late, particularly in northern Ohio, they explained.

Weekend frosts caused widespread damage to tomatoes, soybeans, corn and garden crops in Medina, Columbiana, Wayne and Huron counties in northern Ohio. The crop report said conditions on Sept. 1 indicated a yield of 47.5 bushels of corn per acre, compared with 36 in 1942.

The oats crop was placed at 32,024,000 bushels, against 31,524,000 bushels in 1942 and the 10-year average of 40,067,000.

Much of the soybean crop will need favorable fall weather to mature properly, the report continued. A total of 29,583,000 bushels is expected, compared with 28,319,000 in 1942.

Estimates for other crops, based on conditions Sept. 1, with 1942

Kenton Hears Story of Own Troops in Battle of Munda

Special to The Star

KENTON, Sept. 13—News of the action in which Kenton Co. E and other central-northwestern Ohio units of the 148th Infantry Regiment, 37th Division, were engaged in the Munda battle area of the southwestern Pacific seeped officially into this community today with a news release from Washington, D. C., that told of the work of regiment's Second Battalion, commanded by Lt. Col. Herbert W. Radcliffe of Kenton. That battalion, in which are old Ohio National Guard companies from Ottawa, Findlay, Ada, Paulding, Kenton and Lima, "refused to accept defeat at the hands of nature or the Japs, and sustained some of the heaviest casualties in the Munda fighting," said an operations officer who recently returned to this nation's capital from the battle area.

"The group battled swamps, underbrush, disease and weather as well as the Japs. The terrain was responsible for 90 per cent of its losses."

Meet Strong Resistance

"The battalion attacked the Japanese at the landing stage at Bairoko and encountered unexpectedly strong resistance which drove it back to positions at Rice's Anchorage. From there attacks were launched which succeeded at great cost in forcing a detour in the Japs' original Munda supply line route."

"The embattled ground force was deprived of support from the air force because the dense overhead cover made it impossible for flyers to distinguish American and Japanese lines. The infantrymen fought in jungles so dense that they had to cut their way inch by inch."

"The enemy was lodged in prepared positions in palm log bunkers and dugouts. Machine guns were sighted ingeniously through tree roots, and machine gun nests were undetectable."

"The battalion, on its own for 20 days, was relieved after the fall of Munda when the 25th Division drove northward to relieve the garrison which had achieved its objective of cutting off the Munda supply line, Japanese lifeline in the Pacific had been snapped off one link closer to Tokyo."

Letters telling of the heroic action of the Second Battalion also continued to pour in. One former member of Ada Company H said that Lt. Col. Herbert W. Radcliffe, commanding officer, had told him that the exploits of John Underwood and Robert Ream saved Radcliffe and half of the battalion from certain death at hands of the Japs. "Two platoons of Company H also were saved because these two 'cooked with gas' at the

IOWA, MICHIGAN
OPEN THIS WEEK

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The Iowa pre-flight eleven, glider team of early 1942, and Michigan, expected to replace the Seahawks in that role this fall, open their campaign this weekend.

Michigan, its own great collection of manpower increased by Navy contributions from Wisconsin and Minnesota, tangles with Camp Grant, 23-0 victors over Illinois Saturday. Iowa's Seahawks oppose the Illini.

On the same day Duke, which got plenty of Navy help from Wake Forest, Auburn, Georgia, Tennessee and Mississippi State, tangles with the Camp Lejeune Marines.

Yale had to go all out to defeat Muhlenberg, 13-6. After Wayne Johnson, one of Harvard's better backs in 1942 but now an Eli by grace of the Naval training program, suffered a severe injury on his first play, Rochester nipped Baldwin-Wallace 14-6. Swarthmore blanked Ursinus 12-0 and Presbyterian trounced Fort Jackson, 41-0.

Other games to be played this weekend are Bucknell at Cornell, Villanova at Muhlenberg, Rochester at Yale, Purdue at Great Lakes, Marquette at Wisconsin and the Lubbock army air base at Texas Tech. Presbyterian's high scoring outfit tangles with Georgia on Friday.
